

Ransom Loveless, Jun., was born in Wolcott, February 28, 1818. He early manifested a desire for a liberal education, and entering Red Creek Academy, pursued his studies with diligence, and completed his education at the celebrated Oneida Conference Seminary at Cazenovia, New York. He returned to his native town and commenced the tilling of the soil, and has since resided within sixty feet of where he first saw the light of day. He inherited in a great degree the characteristics of his father, and has accumulated a large property. August 17, 1845, he married Jane M. Lamoreaux, a native of Putnam county, New York, born October 14, 1818. Mr. Loveless is a consistent Christian, and a member of the Baptist church at South Butler. Politically he is a Republican, and an earnest supporter of the principles of that party. He justly merits his success in life, as well as the reputation of being one of the prominent and substantial citizens of the county.
