

Cobblestone House Draws Sightseers

PHELPS — Seventeen hundred people attended the open house at the Lawrence C. Gleason restored cobblestone home east of Phelps yesterday. The open house was scheduled from 2 to 6 p.m. but many were there ahead of that hour and long lines continued throughout the afternoon.

People from a wide area of the state came to see the home. Mr. Gleason gave the open house for the benefit of the Explorer Post No. 46 Boy Scouts and Troop 215 Cadette Scouts. The girls, under the direction of M. T. Vittum and Mrs. Mart VanKirk took care of the tickets and were on duty throughout the house. They also served punch in the garage, aided by Mrs. Herman Donk.

The boys, directed by William Lutz, were in charge of the parking. State Police were also on hand part of the afternoon, directing traffic.

THE WIND MILL on the Lawrence C. Gleason property on Route 96, east of Phelps. Wind mills such as this to pump water were common on farms before the advent of the gasoline engine and electricity. There are only a very few left around the country and most of them are not in working order. Mr. Gleason opened his restored home to the public on Sunday for the benefit of the Explorer Post 46 and Troop 215 Cadette Scouts of Phelps.
