

"Fishell, Henry, is a son of John. John's father, also Henry, came from near Gettysburg, Pennsylvania to Rush in 1808, when John was a child. The elder Fishell bought land and settled on Honeoye Creek, the homestead being still in the family. Of their seven children, John married Sarah Bell, of Rush, and had seven children. She died in 1845, and he married second, Mary Fishell, a second cousin, by whom he had fourteen children. Of the twenty-one children, eighteen are living and in prosperous circumstances.

John Fishell, died in 1879. Henry Fishell was the oldest son, and he married Cornelia Elwanger, and lives on a farm near Five Points. He has one son, Archie D., and a daughter, Hattie M.

John Fishell was a man of means, and the father of these ¹⁷ children:

Margaret (Mrs. William Bell); Henry; Lovina (Mrs. Wheeler); Susan (Mrs. Bell); Maria, (Mrs. Kellogg); Benjamin; Sarah (Mrs. Burton); Celinda, (Mrs. Burgett); Lovira died young. Caroline (Mrs. John Burgett), deceased. Martin resides on the old homestead; ¹⁸⁹⁵ John, who died in Michigan; Helen, a widow resides at home; Emma (Mrs. Benjamin Hovey); Ada (Mrs. William Henry); Delia, (Mrs. Longtier); and Avery. "

Copied from "Landmarks of Monroe County", by William F. Peck,
Boston History Company, 1895.

Page 191, listed under Family Sketches.

Eleanor Crane Kalsbeck
Henrietta Town Historian