OVERLOOKED ORLEANS

On June 1, 1980, the Cobblestone Society formally dedicated the newly relocated Farmer's Hall situated on Route 98 just south of Rt. 104.

The occasion was marked by a farmer's parade from Gaines to Childs, which ended at Tillman's Village Inn. Following the dedication ceremony in front of the Hall, attendees enjoyed a little fun and fellowship at the Museum.

This picture shows Charlie and Jean Shervin "cuttin' the rug" at the festivities following the dedication. The photo was taken in front of Radzinski's H&A located where Crosby's gas station currently sits.

The brick building in the background was part of the brick house that now serves as the Cobblestone Museum's resource center. This portion of the building and the old liquor store attached to the front of the house were both removed after the Museum purchased the building in 1998.

Built in 1855, Farmer's Hall celebrates its 160th birthday this year.
